TreviPay Streamlines eInvoicing with Seamless Integrations

Buyers notice fewer errors and increased efficiency due to the reduction of manual processes.

The Problem

Manual Processes Contribute to Errors and Inefficiency

Manually processing invoices causes friction throughout the buyer payment experience, including higher risk of error, longer invoice processing time and general inefficiencies due to paper processes and manual data entry. This is especially true for large buyers with a significant volume of invoices.

Modern Treasury found financial decision-makers lose nine hours of work time per week resolving payment operations issues. Buyers are clear about what they expect from their purchasing experience: 80% of buyers said integration into ERP platforms is a very important factor when selecting a supplier.

The Challenge

Integration Complexity

Electronic invoicing (eInvoicing) capabilities smooth the customer experience making purchasing easier, but integration into a buyer's back-office ERP system can be difficult and oftentimes off-putting to buyers during onboarding. These barriers leave buyers frustrated and overwhelmed.

¹ In 2023, TreviPay and Murphy Research conducted an online survey of 300 business buyers: 200 from the United States and 100 from the United Kingdom. 86% of respondents companies have more than 500 employees. 30% of them are multinational.

The Solution

elInvoice Integration with TreviPay

TreviPay's elinvoicing integrations enables buyers to seamlessly incorporate electronic invoicing capabilities into existing business systems and processes while adhering to standardized formats such as XML or EDI. In addition to in-house systems, TreviPay integrates directly with popular systems including Ariba, JAGGAER, Commerce Hub and Coupa.

TreviPay's elinvoicing integration is simple and makes the payment experience seamless. Buyers will notice fewer errors and increased efficiency due to the reduction of manual processes.

Gain greater visibility into processes and identify inefficiencies and areas for improvement

Automation

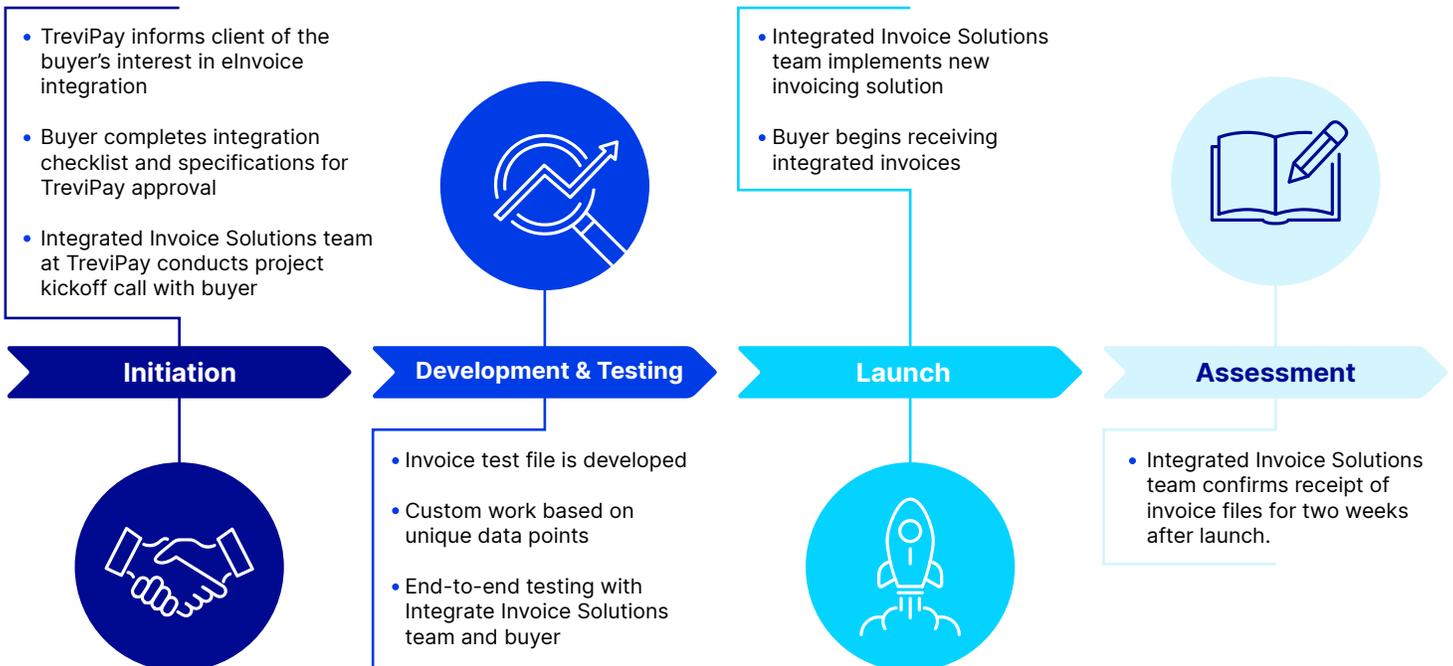

elinvoicing eliminates the need for manual data entry, reducing the risk of errors, inaccuracies and payment disputes

Cost Savings

Reduces paper-based processes and associated back-office costs such as manual entry, printing, postage and storage

How does elInvoice integration work?

TreviPay's Integrated Invoice Solutions team supports the integration at every step of the process

The Result

Successful Integrations, Fewer Manual Errors and Increased Efficiency

With TreviPay's eInvoicing integration, buyers will experience a smoother payment process and waste less time tracking down errors and lost invoices. Don't just take our word for it, see what other buyers are saying:

"Adding eInvoice Integration was an easy decision because when EDI works, it's amazing."

Senior Accounts Payable Manager

"There is less risk of an invoice getting lost in the process, especially if you compare a vendor that is emailing invoices to our AP team or someone in the field. I know there's a direct line so those invoices are getting from our vendor to us."
